2, Brief biography

I obtained my master's degree from University of Madras, followed by M. Phil., & Ph. D., from Annamalai University. From 2005 onwards I am working as an Assistant Professor at Department of Psychology, Annamalai University; we recently celebrated Golden Jubilee function for our Department. Basically, I was interested in health and organizational psychology but lately I developed my research interests towards school psychology particularly school bullying and victimization. Further, I am also interested in resiliency, health behavior and social skills among adolescents and its cross-cultural aspects.
