

Warm-Up

Archer, A., & Gleason, M. (1989). Skills for school success. Billerica, MA: Curriculum Associates.

This reading comprehension strategy is designed to help students in content area classes. This strategy is part of a larger strategy intended to help students complete assignments accurately and on time.

Before you read a chapter in your science, social studies, or health book, Warm-Up. Use these steps to find out what the chapter is about before you begin to read.

Step 1: Read the TITLE of the Chapter and the INTRODUCTION.

Step 2: Read the HEADINGS and the SUBHEADINGS.

Step 3: Read the CHAPTER SUMMARY.

Step 4: Read the QUESTIONS at the end of the chapter.

Step 5: Say to yourself, "This chapter will talk about _____."